

SAVE-THE-DATE:
WEDNESDAY
SEPTEMBER 21
OAKLAND MUSEUM OF CALIFORNIA

CONNECTING COMMUNITIES THROUGH TREES

BUILDING HEALTHY NEIGHBORHOODS THROUGH THE URBAN FOREST

Spend a day learning about how urban forestry can help with growing healthy communities in the East Bay with experts from regional planning, public health and urban tree canopy analysis. Be inspired by the many benefits trees provide and find out how to develop, implement and fund an urban forestry plan. Our keynote speaker, Nathanael Johnson, author of Unseen City takes us on a journey that is part nature lesson and part love letter to the world's urban jungles. With the right perspective, a walk to the bus stop can be every bit as entrancing as a walk through a national park. AICP & CEU Credit Available.

invest from the ground up®

GROWING TREES MAKE GREAT NEIGHBORHOODS

ecosystem bay area urban forest council

